THIS WEEK AT OUR LADY OF GOOD COUNSEL:

HOLY HOUR FOR YOUTH AND VOCATIONS: MON. 30 AUG. 7PM CHURCH

Our youth are growing in a very confused and worrying world, and we want to bring them closer to Our Lord so that they will turn to Him, rely on Him and follow Him throughout their lives. The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed, and readings will be read during the Holy Hour for meditation.

We will also be praying for Vocations to the Priesthood, the Diaconate and the Consecrated life. The diocesan “traveling icon” of St. Joseph will be in the sanctuary this week to remind us all to ask for his intercession.

PARISH “COUNSEL” MEETING: TUE. 31 AUG. 7 PM RECTORY

Parishioners are invited to help plan for the coming year and to make recommendations or suggestions for improving parish life.

ALTAR SERVER TRAINING: THU. 2 SEP. 6PM CHURCH

This will be the fourth and last session for training our newest recruits for serving on the altar of Christ. These young men have been trained to do some of the actions of the altar servers: carrying the Cross and the candles. They may now come on the altar to carry out these functions whenever they come to weekend Mass. Eventually, as they grow bigger, they will be trained to carry out the other duties of a server.

ST. JOSEPH SOCIETY MEETING: THU. 2 SEP. 7:30 PM

In this year dedicated especially to St. Joseph we urge all the men of the parish to come to the St. Joseph Society meeting and be part of our efforts to imitate the good Patriarch in our families, our parish and our community. The refreshments are always great!!!

FIRST FRIDAY AND SATURDAY OF THE MONTH

Confessions will be heard from 6:30-6:55 PM.

Sat. 4 Sep. Holy Mass at 8 AM followed by the Holy Rosary in

“The harm that comes to souls from the lack of reading holy books makes me shudder...What power spiritual reading has to lead to a change of course, and to make even worldly people enter into the way of perfection.” St. Padre Pio of Pietrelcina

JUDIE BROWN ON THE FDA'S "APPROVAL" OF THE PFIZER VACCINE

“Safe should not be the equivalent of mandatory. While the FDA recently approved the Pfizer vaccine, there are multiple reasons why Catholics can and ought to have a moral objection to certain vaccines, particularly those using human embryonic cells in their testing and/or their development.

“The state Catholic conferences of CO, WI, and SD have wisely and courageously chosen to permit both religious and personal exemptions for the COVID-19 vaccine. While not as strong, the NYS Bishops and others such as Bishop James Wall of Gallup, NM and Bishop Thomas Daly of Spokane, WA have both opposed any mandated vaccination program—a schematic that would directly violate one's right to refuse medical treatment.

“Ideologically driven directives from the USCCB run right over the top of our rights of conscience. Families may have multiple reasons not to take a vaccine, whether that is a moral objection in the way the vaccines are presently developed, ethical concerns about the American public being used as guinea pigs during a pandemic, or medical concerns about taking untested vaccines while pregnant or having some secondary underlying conditions.

“Especially in the case of experimental vaccines, each individual should weigh their own risks and benefits and make the decision they feel is best for themselves and their families. (The Bishops of CO have set an example by recognizing religiously-held exemptions of CO families).

“Respecting the right of human persons requires a better respect for their integrity as human persons. That means offering the best information available and allowing parents to make clear decisions. For this reason, American Life League continues to reinforce the right of parents to decline medical treatment consistent with the guidelines issued by the CO Catholic Conference, and strongly urges every pro-life American to foster the development of ethical and moral vaccines that do not hinge upon the destruction of an innocent human life.”

(Judie Brown is the Founder and former Director of American Life League).
